

What's the Catch?

Just through that door,
the one you've passed
every day for as long as you can remember,
is a whole world, hidden.

Just through that door
shines a spectacular place, people-run and practical,
through that door is history, something ancient and new,
something we can learn from
and build together.
we'll open it for you.

We run on goodwill,
the shoulders of communities intent on sharing passion. because when passion is shared, it grows stronger, more resilient something we can be proud to hold, as we build a heritage of kindness and wonder.

Together,
we ignite newness,
from Sheffield's drains to Europe's trains
we set stories in motion.

It's all thanks to the people who hold the doors open, welcome us into a world unfurled - clearer, brighter,
free and waiting

The only catch is that you'll never see home in the same way again.

By Poetry Chef Malaika

